the years
Leading us from childhood into the future:
Learning, sharing, growing.

The fine, young gentlemen on the squad this year showed great determination and desire. This team will be remembered for bringing us many nailbiting games, especially the one against Fram. South. A great year for the B.H.S. football team!

The Wamps won their first four games of the year before losing to Norward and provided to split their next 7 contests in a midyear slump. Part of the reason was a knee injury to 6'3" center Mike Curry, causing Mike to miss 5 contests.

TO:           The Class of 1981

You will no doubt agree that, in retrospect, the years you have spent as a student in the Braintree Public Schools have passed very quickly. The teachers, the specialists, the administrators, and all others who have assisted you along the way are hopeful that each of you will reach your potential in the years to come.

As young citizens in a dynamic society, we hope that, as you strive for success and happiness, you also remember the less fortunate who now need your help. We hope that you will look beyond parochial boundaries and the accidental characteristics of various races of people and see fellow human beings who, like you, are dependent on others. We hope that with time you will appreciate and enjoy more the arts which enhance the natural order, remind us of the supernatural order, and make our world more beautiful.

In short, we wish you a full and successful journey to come.

Sincerely,
John F. Monbouquette

JOSEPH RUGNETTA

In fond memory of our classmate, Joseph Rugnetta, the class of 1981 is proud to share I Love You Joe, a poem written by his sister, Marie Rugnetta.

I Love You, Joe

Where do I start, how do I begin,
To explain what my feelings are?
No one here, just me and Joe,
Veggin to Springsteen, alone in my car.
It was a certain feeling which Joe and I shared,
A hidden feeling that revealed we both cared.
It was a feeling that was oh so strong,
Possibly explained in a Springsteen song.
A love that was so deep and so intense,
Words just couldn't begin to explain,
No matter how mad at each other we were,
That special feeling was always somehow retained.
So many fights, years ago they seem,
Who used my razor? Where's my shaving cream?
But listening for those painful words now,
Would be so much more than a mere dream.
What about those days of driving to school,
Taking our cars and feeling so cool?
It was always Joey, Dominic, and me,
Parking my car in a spot we agreed.
Arriving in homeroom, never on time,
Teachers treating us like criminals, committing a crime.
But never failing for Joey, I always wrote
A different excuse on that dismissal note.
Midnights came, it was time to eat,
Me and Joe at the table, seat by seat,
Filling our bowls with those Frosted Flakes,
Never wasting time, or allowing any breaks.
Later in the evenings as I lie awake in bed,
Echoes of his syllables still ringing in my head,
I remember each and every intense sound,
He spoke so alive, and yet so profound.
Joe worked some days in his daddy's garage,
In his mind he was chasing some mirage,
Watching my dad, and learning the trade,

Knowing some day he'd have it made.
Joe tried to live his life the right way,
He got up every morning, went to school each day,
But his eyes grew tired, his blood ran cold,
Sometimes he felt so weak he just wanted to explode,
Explode and tear this whole town apart,
Take a knife and cut that pain from his heart,
Just blow away the dream that tore him apart;
Blow away the dreams that broke his heart.
Yes Joe always tried to flee from this pain.
Sometimes he felt he was quietly going insane.
Hey, Joe, I know those feelings, yes I understand,
Just let me take those moments into my hands.
No you weren't just a boy, no you were a man,
And you believed in that Promised Land.
Joe believed in the love that could save him,
He believed in the faith that could raise him,
He hoped and he prayed that maybe someday he
Would be raised above these Badlands to be free.
Yes Joe, we share those same beliefs.
It was the love that we once knew,
But now Joe that love can only grow,
If you're by my side to carry me through.
Some may believe Joe, you've gone far beyond this terrain
But why God was it Joey, you chose to claim?
For he was so young, he had so much more to grow,
Yes God you were watching from above down below.
It was he whom you chose to sit by your side,
Amongst the crowd, it was my brother you eyed.
You must have a reason, but I don't know why,
And when I look for your answers, I can only cry.
Out there in the spotlight, you're a million miles
away,
People praying for Joe, each and every day,
For you Joe, eternity was your driven goal,
From now on our prayers will end: "God rest your soul".
Love Always,
Marie

As you prepare to go on your way
Here are some words I'd like to say
You've meant a great deal to me this whole year
Seeing you leave may bring on a tear
I hope I have given you words of advice that somehow, someday will help you in life
I've really enjoyed the times we have had all of the good, even the bad
Coaching the Pep Squad has given me pleasure
all of your memories, I'm sure you will treasure
Ahead lies the future, it's all up to you
Do what you can, may your dreams all come true
